U.S. DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
BUREAU OF ALCOHOL, TOBACCO & FIREARMS

TAPE 1x

March 9, 1993

3:10 a.m. - 4:00 a.m.

(Tape 1x)

WAYNE: -- that we should know --

MAX: Um-hum.

WAYNE: -- and I hope that you'll have a chance to go over it. So, just wanted to check the line and thanks for calling back.

MAX: Well, I just wanted to make sure that you -- whoever was in there that the line was here, someone was on the other end and someone was concerned in here.

WAYNE: Well, that's, that's, that's great, and --

MAX: You called in one night, we had a pretty long discussion, I don't know, it was an hour or more, and we talked for a while. And I thought it was very informative and, and you, you shared some of your views and a little bit of Scripture and we talked a few things of importance to us in very rational and calm tones. And then you called back a little bit later and seemed to be really upset.

WAYNE: Well, we were upset about the movement of the Bradleys.

MAX: Well, this was during the middle of the night. Were they moving around during the middle of the night?

WAYNE: Yeah. It was around 5:30 that morning.

MAX: Okay. I couldn't make out -- I mean, I couldn't in my own mind understand why the fluctuation -- you know, and I'm 12 miles away so, you know, you tell me a movement and I don't know about it in advance and I usually hear it from you people first and then I have to go, you know, two or three doors down and find out what's happening to, to, to be even verified even. So, I didn't know. I was a little bit puzzled by the change of your --

WAYNE: You're saying the negotiators are 12 miles away?

MAX: Yeah.

WAYNE: All of you?

MAX: Yeah.

WAYNE: Okay. Well --

MAX: So, you know, we're not in those tanks or we're not in those Bradleys or --

WAYNE: You're not --

MAX: -- anything that you can see. No, we're --

WAYNE: You're not in the command post?

MAX: Well, we're, we're in a command post but not the one you think of up there. We're over here at an airport in, in Waco.

WAYNE: Oh, yes.

MAX: So, you know, that's why we don't always know when you call to us about something what the deal is until we check it out.

WAYNE: Okay. Well, we're not that concerned about what's going on.

MAX: Well, I don't think you should be. You know, there's going to be movement, there's going to be this vehicle and that vehicle and different things are going to be happening. But we have an old saying in, in this organization and I hope you'll stop and consider it and that is "future behavior is best predicted by past behavior." And look at this past week since we've been involved with you, nothing has happened, and I hope you'll just our future behavior what you anticipate and expect it to be on that, that we haven't hurt you, that there may have been some saber rattling on both sides and some posturing but nobody's been hurt. The actions have spoken loud and clear that we want a peaceful settlement to this.

WAYNE: Well, I'm, I'm waiting on God for direction and I think that it's very clear throughout the prophesies that, that God uses patience to perfect the saints -- that's in --

MAX: Well, I think recently we've been showing a lot of patience and so in that respect we're godly I suppose.

WAYNE: Well, James, Chapter 1 says that --

MAX: And I think patience is what's going to help end this situation because God is certainly going to have use -- utilize patience in some degree to, to keep people from getting hurt and if we use that patience then we're working with him on this thing.

WAYNE: Yes.

MAX: And not being a great scholar, scholar and not being a great theologian, and I mentioned this the other night from a person that lives in the day-to-day real factual world, I just think that there needs to be some interpretation of what this sign might be. That you know I have heard the phrase somewhere that God works in mysterious ways and I don't know -- and I've also heard somewhere along the way that, that everybody perceives things religious and sacred through different eyes and through different hearts and different minds. And if we are tuned to accepting some kind of sign, what we can, if someone in there should decide to lead out to safety or if someone, the right person would come and meet you would that not be a sign of some type? For instance, if your -- Joe and Helen Martin from Newark, New Jersey were here and standing at the end of the driveway and motioning to you to, to come out, would that not be a sign of some kind? Would you not put faith in that?

WAYNE: Well, Max, I don't have a comment for you.

MAX: Well, I really wanted one.

WAYNE: I feel that if God asked me to wait, and you asked me once well, how will I be sure that God had given the message to David Koresh. Well, how could a person know as much about God's mysteries as he does, open up vast areas of knowledge about the Scriptures as he has and not be able to communicate with God?

MAX: Does, does, does that process shut off your communication with him? Again, I'm, I'm sorting acting as a, you know, an observer in this thing. But does that automatically shut off your interpretation?

WAYNE: My interpretation really doesn't matter.

MAX: Oh, really?

WAYNE: Listen, listen. Isaiah 50 --

MAX: I got a hard time with that one.

WAYNE: Isaiah 50 verse 10 says. "When God's servants are in darkness...."

MAX: Well, I just -- it's so conflicting to me. It's, it's one day it's one thing and it's the next day it's the next thing and --

WAYNE: But --

MAX: -- this seems to be whatever, whatever serves David's the purpose the best is what it always is. And, you know, from what little I know of it, it -- I thought it was supposed to be more of an equal situation, that everybody had their own, own line in if they wanted it.

WAYNE: That's a promise. That's a promise in the Scriptures. However, at this time, Isaiah 50 verse 10 is my position and --

MAX: Can you tell, tell me without a verse?

WAYNE: It says, well, who is there that obeys God's servant and walks darkness and has no light.

MAX: That means that everybody's got to listen to David?

WAYNE: Let him put his trust in the Lord.

MAX: Well, I really wish there was as much confusion in there about what's going on as there was in my mind and, and in the people out here. We can't -- from the articles we read and the people we interview and from people who used to be in there and came out

WAYNE: Well --

MAX: -- really, honestly, we can't, can't see how this situation is, is, is continuing the way it is and under these circumstances that it has and with people under the influence that they're under and that the cause is that orthodox and that proper and that religious.

WAYNE: Well, it is a mystery how so many dumb people that are brainwashed and unable to think for themselves are able to reach such a consensus on what the Scriptures teach. That's, in the words of Bob, unusual. But we're learning how to see eye-to-eye on the Scriptures. And it's our standard, it's our reference. It's a biblical standard and it's what we intend to keep and we're -- we feel that as, as Americans we have a constitutional right to our religious freedom and we're going to keep the Bible.

MAX: Well, certainly you, you do have those rights and the constitution does give them, but it also gives the rest of us some and, you know, it doesn't give, you know, the, the right to bear certain types of arms and, and other things. You know, there are some laws of man that enter into it, but, you know, that's, that's another issue for another court. The one thing that we need to resolve, it has to be resolved here now or, or in this time period, this time frame, is getting people out of there in a safe manner -- God's going to have His way anyway whether you're in there or whether you're out here, there's nobody, nothing that any of us can do to change it if he's going to have His way. So, if you had come into a position --

WAYNE: (Indiscernible)

MAX: -- you know, that everyone could be safe first in man's world and then, you know, say God's going to have His way anyway.

WAYNE: Well, says the Lord is good and a stronghold in the day of trouble and knows those who put his trust in Him in, Nahum, Chapter 1. And we have a song in Isaiah in Chapter 25 and we have waited for God, he will save us and we have waited for the Lord. We will rejoice in His salvation. So, the word is to wait and that it came from God. And so we're going to exercise our patience and our faith in this message from God.

MAX: Do you, do you think in all of that then that everybody who has gone about any type of religious -- anybody that has gone about accomplishing any religious goals in the past have gone about it the wrong way, that they all should have done as you all have done and prepared as you all have prepared and challenged the laws that you all have challenged in order to be right?

WAYNE: Well, I'm not commenting on that last clause, but --

MAX: Well --

WAYNE: No, no, I'm not.

MAX: -- gee, that's what this is all about, is, you know, if this is -- you know, is everybody else wrong because they haven't armed themselves and prepared as you have prepared and --

WAYNE: I'm not commenting about arms. But in answer to the first part of your, your question, I would say that the dispensation that God has given to people in other times has been different. God has saved people in different ways at different times. Noah's time, people were told to get in the ark; Abraham's time, people were told to get out of Sodom; in Moses' time people were told to sacrifice the lamb, put it on the door post and then the next morning they were told to leave Egypt. Now, each time people were told a different way to be saved. In our time, we are told that there is a certain person that has credentials from God and to check it out by hearing what he has to say about the seven seals and seeing whether it's made plain in the prophesies, and Isaiah 55 says that person is our commander, all right? Now, the second part of your question is about arms. We've talked about that before you and I.

MAX: Um-hum. Everybody I think that's been on either of these telephones has talked about that and nobody out here has been able to really understand it yet.

WAYNE: Well --

MAX: And probably we won't reach an understanding in this conversation about it, but go ahead.

WAYNE: Well, didn't Christ have a conversation with Pilate? That was the government in his day 2,000 year ago, and they talked about things like truth. What is truth? Well, didn't Christ say the truth will set you free? Well, we believe the seven seals will set us free. Now, getting back on the subject. Talked with Pilate, talked about the kingdom and why it wasn't going to be set up 2,000 years ago. And you know, we've talked to you about that before.

MAX: Um-hum.

WAYNE: Because his servants weren't willing to fight for him -- the kingdom would not be set up. Earlier that same week, Christ had told his Disciples to sell whatever they owned and do what with the money? To even borrow. To do what? To buy swords.

MAX: You know, your phrasing, your, your every comment, every sound that you make when get into this is exactly parroting David. You stop and you pause and you ask the questions the same time he does, you quote some of the same verses he does, you stop and want us to fill in the blank. It's -- I can't take it seriously that it's you believing it because you're -- it's just an exact tape recording of what David says. So, you know, I can't really think that you're in there in spite of your education, in spite of your experience, thinking for yourself.

WAYNE: Well, well then reason with me a little bit. How could I go to the city of Waco, practice law, exercise judgment and then come home and be totally brainwashed and then the next day go back to the city of Waco, practice law, exercise reason and judgment no one detecting that I was a moron? Figure that out.

MAX: No, no, I would never --

WAYNE: No, I resent --

MAX: -- call anyone a moron.

WAYNE: -- I resent all of these comments in the media about people here not knowing how to think. We have science teachers, we have lawyers, we have medical people, we have computer engineers.

MAX: Well, sanity is not always a matter of IQ, you know.

WAYNE: Oh, so I was mentally defective in practicing law?

MAX: No. You mentioned brainwashing.

WAYNE: Well, what are we talking about?

MAX: You know, that's, that's an affectation of the sanity to --

WAYNE: Doesn't the brain has something to do with the mental health of a person?

MAX: At times. But a person on many occasions -- you're a lawyer so you know, you know, that you can be -- you can have a severe personality malformation --

WAYNE: An interactive social worker --

MAX: -- that will cause, that will cause crime.

WAYNE: -- interactive psychiatrist --

MAX: But at the same time you will not be ruled insane in a court of law. So, we both know what we're talking about here, David.

WAYNE: Well, I've, I've had people --

MAX: I'm sorry. I'm used to saying David; Wayne.

WAYNE: Well --

MAX: Although you can understand why I made the mistake too; you sound so much like him. What shall we tell Joe and Helen Martin? They have physically called in here, they've made contact with our agents --

WAYNE: I prefer to talk --

MAX: -- and they wish to send you a message.

WAYNE: I prefer to talk to Joe and Helen direct.

MAX: Um-hum.

WAYNE: I don't think I can trust someone else to talk for me to Joe and Helen Martin.

MAX: You have --

WAYNE: I don't know that they are doing okay. I don't know what the government is doing to them. I don't know what the government is doing to my family, my friends, my children. I don't know anything about that and it really gets me angry.

MAX: Well --

WAYNE: To lose those kinds of rights as an American --

MAX: -- I think you can -- you know, you know that without me saying it, all you have to do is come out here and make inquiry.

WAYNE: You know that --

MAX: And it will be simple enough to find out. You will have --

WAYNE: You know that the --

MAX: -- thousands of news media wanting to answer the same questions that you ask and they'll dig for answers --

WAYNE: The government tried to kill --

MAX: -- and the government and the court will dig for answers.

WAYNE: -- all of the people in this building. The government has tried to kill all of the people in this building and then you tell me we should surrender to you, the same government without any observers?

MAX: You are a lawyer.

WAYNE: I've seen --

MAX: You're discrediting yourself by that statement.

WAYNE: I've seen the evidence around this building and you've said you planned it for months. You had plenty of opportunity to serve a warrant in a different way. You should have a siege. You, you avoided all those options and you went for assassination.

MAX: Not me.

WAYNE: Well, I'm no, I'm not saying you personally.

MAX: And you look at it. You, you are -- you in some circles are an officer of the court.

WAYNE: In some circles?

MAX: Yeah.

WAYNE: You question my credentials?

MAX: No. I just don't know what court you're qualified to teach -- to --

WAYNE: Oh, okay.

MAX: -- to work in, you see? You're not --

WAYNE: Well, I didn't question your credentials.

MAX: You're not qualified in all courts I don't believe.

WAYNE: Well, well, I'm not going to comment on that. I will say --

MAX: But, but a court --

WAYNE: -- I will say -- I, I, I --

MAX: -- qualifying for any court would give you more knowledge than you're now showing.

WAYNE: I will say, I will say that I have successfully won an appeal in the U.S. Supreme Court, an honor that not many lawyers have accomplished within the first three years of their practice, maybe not in their total practice. But I have that opinion in my --

MAX: Congratulations.

WAYNE: -- file cabinet and it's signed by Judge Scalia. So, if you want to question abilities to practice law while under a severe mental defect, then find me an example. You say --

MAX: Then you know the system works.

WAYNE: I know the system --

MAX: Then you know the legal system works.

WAYNE: -- how it works. I, I wouldn't say it works. I know how it works.

MAX: Do you know what power the legal system combined with the media have?

WAYNE: I'm not impressed with man's power. Man's, man's breath is in his nostrils. Do you know what that means?

MAX: You spoke a few minutes ago, you spoke a few minutes ago that you would not get a fair shake out here, that people --

WAYNE: It means --

MAX: -- were going to finish killing you or whatever, and I just wanted you to realize that in your own mind you knew that was not true, you're an officer of the very system you're accusing of doing that.

WAYNE: The evidence shows that the government tried to assassinate all of the people in this building.

MAX: It shows no such thing. You could not prove that in any court, much less from in there.

WAYNE: Well --

MAX: You got to come out here and prove it. You got millions of people who would listen to that.

WAYNE: I don't have to come out there and prove anything.

MAX: You should. If you believe that strongly about it you should.

WAYNE: I don't have to.

MAX: It's your duty. It's your obligation. As, as a lawyer, as an officer of the court, if you know of something, that that was wrong -- that wrong that was done, it's your obligation, it's your sworn obligation to come out and do something about it, is it not?

WAYNE: It is not my duty --

MAX: Sure it is.

WAYNE: It is not my duty to walk out and be slaughtered by the government.

MAX: By a system that you've sworn to be a part of? No, that's not going to happen. You know better than that, Wayne. You have relatives that are in this very system in law enforcement. Now, come on, put the right hat on and get out of there. How about Sheila? How's she doing?

WAYNE: Ask her.

MAX: She's the one you're in there for. I think you owe it to her to bring her out of there.

WAYNE: Ask her.

MAX: Where is she? Is she there with you? Where is she?

WAYNE: I'm alone. There's nobody with me right now.

MAX: Then where is Sheila?

WAYNE: She's in the building.

MAX: Where is she in the building?

WAYNE: I wouldn't tell anyone where anyone is in the building. We don't trust you enough. I will say that bullets were all around her a week ago, and my children. And you can just look at Jamie's face and you'll see scars from glass that cut him up.

MAX: Is she down in David's part of the building?

WAYNE: You know the government did that. This is the government you said would not try to wipe out --

MAX: The government will not --

WAYNE: -- the people in this building.

MAX: The government will not, the judicial system that you work in will not. You know that.

WAYNE: I don't know that.

MAX: It's empty.

WAYNE: I don't know that.

MAX: It's totally empty. Your argument is totally empty. You have no basis for it and you know better.

WAYNE: When, when you use the word totally I know you're making an emotional argument.

MAX: Hey, I'll make any kind of argument to get people to safety.

WAYNE: Don't tell me you'd do anything to get us out of here.

MAX: I said I would make any kind of argument to make -- to get peoples' safety. And I'll do anything within reason.

WAYNE: How about the truth?

MAX: I'll do anything within -- truth, sure.

WAYNE: Well, go have a press conference and tell the truth. Tell the truth about what happened out here --

MAX: You've got such a --

WAYNE: -- and then we'd have confidence to talk to you.

MAX: We have done the best we can, all right? We tell the truth as we know it --

WAYNE: You know, I can't believe --

MAX: -- as investigation and facts at our disposal, as affidavits filed in your court, say the truth is.

WAYNE: When the press asks for the affidavits, you say they're sealed.

MAX: Now, you sit in there, you sit in there in your very strict little environment, in your bubble, in your cocoon, listening to one voice rattle back and forth from one chapter to another with an interpretation that changes --

WAYNE: No, that's not true.

MAX: -- like the clouds in the sky and you talk -- call out here and tell me I'm not truthful, that I don't know what's going on in this world?

WAYNE: That's not true.

MAX: I'd rather read a document out of your court --

WAYNE: We have never been, never been in a cocoon.

MAX: -- than listen to you interpret something -- to David -- somebody interpret out of a Bible.

WAYNE: We have never been in a cocoon.

MAX: Sure you have.

WAYNE: No, we haven't.

MAX: And I can see how it would be upsetting to have to come out of that environment. I can see how this -- how it's threatening out here and how you have so much invested in it --

WAYNE: Max, you have an investment and you are counting the costs of accepting the truth or holding onto what you have, your car, your job, your pension, your wife, your kids, you think these things are things that should come ahead of what the Scriptures tell you to do which is to seek the Kingdom first.

MAX: Look, if I'm wrong it's going to be me, if you're wrong it's going to be you and Sheila and that whole group in there is in danger. I'm asking you to come out and be in a safe situation.

WAYNE: You're asking me to gamble.

MAX: Yes, but the odds are on your side and you know it. You're a part of the system this system that makes it work. You're --

WAYNE: I don't feel lucky. I just don't feel lucky.

MAX: I know what you have on the line, Wayne. I know that you've got a lot of time, reputation, ego, prowess, whatever, invested in this. And money, you've poured lots of money down this hole. And it's got to work or things don't look good, things look very bleak. But it's fallen apart, it's not working. Stop and look around you. Listen to the things that you're saying. Weigh them in the judicial sense. Put then on the Harvard-educated scale that you have somewhere in your mind. Put some facts to it and see that you can start over, that it's worth rebuilding. Don't let them take it all from you, don't lose it all. It'll be bumpy for a while, there will be some problems, there will be some things to overcome. I know you didn't go in there in a split second and you may not come out in a split second, but start thinking what's at stake here and that you can start over and that you can save some things that you thought might have lost and you can regain some things you did lose.

People out here care about you. People out here are worried about this situation you and all your, your children are in. What more can I say?

WAYNE: Something from the Scriptures.

MAX: No, no.

WAYNE: Anything from the Scriptures, Max.

MAX: No, that's -- you turn to Scriptures when, when there's -- you, you can't think of any logical reason to think on your own.

WAYNE: You think the Scriptures are illogical?

MAX: No, you can't -- you turn to the Scriptures when you can't think of anything for yourself to say. You go to the Scriptures and remember what David said about them. If you were interpreting that would be different, but you're not. Would you let somebody else totally interpret and brief a case and go to trial on it? No. But that's what you're doing with your life here.

WAYNE: David has credentials. I've checked his credentials. Have you checked his credentials?

MAX: Do you -- how do you measure credentials? In the amount of money he's taken from people like yourself --

WAYNE: When he's shared things with you that no one ever --

MAX: -- from the number of wives he's taken from people, from the number of motorcycles parked in his shed, from the number of sports he drives or guitars that he paints?

WAYNE: Well, maybe you want me to just, just drop in and talk with him for an hour each week and then for the rest of the week do my own thing.

MAX: I don't think it would be advisable to drop in and talk to him for an hour. I think it's advisable to drop back into your own reality and realize what's important, what direction you're headed, what you're leaving behind, what you're turned your back on and collect up what's important to you and get back out into the world and work for yourself; set your own goals, have your own ambition, spend your own money --

WAYNE: And save how many souls?

MAX: -- and, and take your own wife home with you in the evening.

WAYNE: And save how many souls?

MAX: Yours and your family's for sure.

WAYNE: For how long?

MAX: For as long as you want.

WAYNE: (Laughter)

MAX: Would you as an attorney introduce David on the stand as an authority on something --

WAYNE: Max, you find me anybody --

MAX: -- as a factual witness?

WAYNE: You find me anybody that can help my son Jamie besides David Koresh.

MAX: What's he done for him so far?

WAYNE: Find me anyone that can help Jamie.

MAX: What's he done for him so far?

WAYNE: Well, all you've done is make promises.

MAX: What has David done for him so far? What's he done for Sheila?

WAYNE: He's given me a truth from Isaiah 35. That's going to help Jamie. Now, what can the doctors give me, huh?

MAX: I'm not saying that there are no crosses

WAYNE: You think I'm here because --

MAX: -- to bear out here in the real world.

WAYNE: -- it's illogical -- you say it's illogical, you're saying it's not reality, you're saying the odds against me, you're saying that I'm not thinking.

MAX: Um-hum.

WAYNE: And I just tried to reason with you. I said give me something for Jamie. Give me anything for him. David Koresh has given me Isaiah 35. What, what can you offer?

MAX: It's always been there. He didn't give it to you.

WAYNE: You can't give me anything for him, not a thing.

MAX: How about the children that you have released out here? Who's going to care and take care of them? Is it any way significant to you that the only children --

WAYNE: (Indiscernible)

MAX: -- released from there were not David's biological children? Is that significant?

WAYNE: God will take care of them.

MAX: I think he's going to take care of all of us regardless of what we as individuals do, and I see you in some physical and emotional danger. And let's, let's relieve that situation and then God will do what he wants to do with any and all of us anyway.

WAYNE: Read Psalms 8. David has asked you to read Psalms 8. It's about the children. Read, read Isaiah 49. It's about the children. You don't need my interpretation. Just read those.

MAX: I, I don't really think you have any anyway, David -- Wayne. You don't have any interpretations; you're giving me David's.

WAYNE: Actually, I don't mind you saying that.

MAX: Do you have anything special that you would like for us to say for these -- to these people who are calling, Joe and Ellen --

WAYNE: Yes.

MAX: -- and the Greenwoods (phonetic sp.).

WAYNE: I'd like you to tell them that, that I'd like to talk to them.

MAX: That's easy enough. I'm sure that they would like to talk with you. I'm sure that they would like to be assured that someone is going to take care of the children.

WAYNE: When our telephones were cut I was talking to my family.

MAX: I'm sure that they are wondering -- I know that they were wondering how the children out here are going to exist without you and Sheila's help, and why you're doing that to them.

WAYNE: Well, I'm not doing that to them. You're doing that to them. The agreement was --

MAX: It's your choice not to be --

WAYNE: The agreement was that you would allow the children to go to their relatives. You're doing that to them. One day the truth will be know.

MAX: They need to be with their parents. We both know that.

WAYNE: I'm telling you that the truth will be known.

MAX: They need to be with their parents. You are afraid to leave, you know that. You're an attorney, you've practice in the courts, you've told me how assured you are in that profession and I believe you. And I believe you equally know that your rights will be protected if you come out, that you will have all the freedoms that anyone else in this country has when you come out of there.

WAYNE: The people in this building have had their constitutional rights trampled on. Now, let me, let me, let me --

MAX: That, that is -- there is a remedy for that in your system is there not?

WAYNE: We are being treated as fugitives and there are no charges filed against us.

MAX: The system that you work for and have taken an oath to uphold has remedies for that situation. Come out --

WAYNE: We have --

MAX: -- and help it be investigated.

WAYNE: We have a right to counsel. 6th Amendment.

MAX: Come out and have it.

WAYNE: We have a right to jury trial, 7th

Amendment.

MAX: Come, come out and have it.

WAYNE: What? As dead bodies?

MAX: No. Nobody's going to kill you, you know that, come on out.

WAYNE: We have a right to search and -- reasonable search and seizure.

MAX: If it's signed by a judge it's reasonable.

WAYNE: You can't serve it with blazing guns.

MAX: Come out and let your story be told.

WAYNE: We have a right to keep and bear arms.

MAX: You're a lawyer. You can have any other lawyer of your choosing to defend you or to bring suit.

WAYNE: We have a right to a free press.

MAX: It's waiting out here for you. Come on.

WAYNE: Yes, it's called the BBC. Not a single American media is worth calling it media anymore. But nevertheless, you're blocking us from the BBC. And we have a right --

MAX: Come out and hold a press conference.

WAYNE: -- to religious freedom.

MAX: Nobody's ever questioned that.

WAYNE: Now, since you won't honor our rights now, why should we trust you in the future?

MAX: Look, you're a member of this system. You don't have to have me answer that. You know far more about law and rights than I do. You work in the courtroom every day. You don't have to pose those questions to me.

WAYNE: Max --

MAX: You're playing a game with me just by asking --

WAYNE: Okay.

MAX: -- because you know --

WAYNE: Let's --

MAX: -- you told me what a functioning lawyer you were, you know the answers to those questions, you get up and argue them in the court.

WAYNE: Let's play another game. Tell me about this new world order.

MAX: New world order? Well, give me a hint.

WAYNE: No.

MAX: You're not starting off on seven-somethings are you? I don't want to go into sevens anything.

WAYNE: There's money in your pocket. Tell me about it. Here you are, an agency of the government that doesn't even follow its own laws; tell me about the new world order. Who do you answer to? What laws do you follow?

MAX: You know that as well as I do. You don't have to ask. You know how the judicial system and the government system is constructed. You could probably go over to your closet and crack a book and get the answer in a second. You are -- anything that you ask me about the system you're, you're being facetious because you know. If you would stop and examine, you know.

WAYNE: I know what the Bible says about it. I know --

MAX: That's not the question that you're asking about.

WAYNE: -- it's Daniel Chapter 11.

MAX: You're not, you're not asking if the question is about the Bible, you're asking questions about your rights in the constitution and all that and you know those as well as you profess to know the Bible. Or you know those as well as David has taught you the Bible.

WAYNE: It says, "King of the North tries to enter into God's Kingdom using flatteries, using deceit and also using its might and its power."

MAX: You're afraid to leave and you're choosing not to. Is that correct? I want to get this, you know, on a factual basis here. Is that correct? You, you do not wish to leave, you do not wish to locate your wife and, and bring her out with you?

WAYNE: I choose to wait for God.

MAX: Okay, and in what way do you think is God going to give you the answer? Do we have any idea of that?

WAYNE: I believe God will act according to one of the prophesies. I'm not saying which one.

MAX: Oh, you're not?

WAYNE: No, I'm not.

MAX: Why is everybody keeping that such a secret from us?

WAYNE: Well, why don't you come and join us and we'll give you a class --

MAX: No, why don't you come and join us? Why don't you come and join us?

WAYNE: We'll give you a Bible study. We'll give you safe harbor, safe conduct, whatever you want. We're --

MAX: Well, that's the same thing I'm offering you.

WAYNE: We're trustworthy. Didn't we give Robert Gonzalez many a Bible study --

MAX: Haven't we treated all your children properly? Hey, everything you're saying about yourself you know goes true for us too.

WAYNE: I don't know. Those still photographs, they're not very reassuring.

MAX: Well --

WAYNE: (Indiscernible)

MAX: -- we sent a tape -- that videotape in there and it was working when we sent it in. You should have been able to tell from that.

WAYNE: Has the government run out of videotape?

MAX: What do you mean by that?

WAYNE: Send another.

MAX: Why? Just to have it erased by somebody that doesn't want you to see it?

WAYNE: You know, I hadn't thought of that.

MAX: Well, it's about time you started thinking. It really is. Don't you have a relative that belonged in the FBI for a while?

WAYNE: I don't know.

MAX: A cousin?

WAYNE: I don't know that it would be wise for me to talk to you about that. Is this what, psychological pressure?

MAX: No, it's a question.

WAYNE: No, no, it's pressure.

MAX: I was going to ask you next if you believed him or trust him or thought he was as big a crook as you're accusing me of being. Did he do something to make you distrust this organization?

WAYNE: I haven't spoken to that person in let's see, 13 years.

MAX: Was he bad when you knew him then?

WAYNE: Was he what?

MAX: Bad.

WAYNE: (Laughter) He was there.

MAX: He was there?

WAYNE: He was there. C'est la vie.

MAX: Okay, but he didn't do you anything -- didn't do anything to make you believe that the FBI was a gestapo-like agency or something did he? I would hope that he would have given you some positive thought about us.

WAYNE: We haven't discussed the FBI.

MAX: Was he a fair and honest person at least?

WAYNE: I wouldn't know. We sat down, we ate some turkey, we watched the Dallas Cowboys on television.

MAX: Well, good for you. Did you root for them?

WAYNE: The Dallas Cowboys?

MAX: Yeah.

WAYNE: Well, yes, I did.

MAX: Well, good.

WAYNE: And, and that was it. We were just a typical American family, ignorant about the seven seals. That's how it was with everybody in 1980.

MAX: And you didn't know about the seven seals, seven seals in 1980?

WAYNE: No one knew about them.

MAX: All right, and have things gotten worse up to 1990? I mean, we made it 10 years without the seven seals. Maybe we can make it 10 more if you'll come out of there.

WAYNE: Who would want to make it without the seven seals?

MAX: Well, I think anybody that, you know, really cared about their children out here and the rest of their family and living the rest of their life and everything.

WAYNE: Well, the Bible says the Lord is good.

MAX: I'm not a scholar but I'll believe that.

WAYNE: Romans, Paul says everything works out just great for those who put their trust in God.

MAX: Okay. Do you have your trust in God? Then come on out of there and everything will work out good. It's that simple. You just said it. Whatever you do he's going to look out for you, he's good. Come on.

WAYNE: For those who put their trust in Him.

MAX: You have. I'm sure you have. Come on. I hope you didn't leave it with David though.

WAYNE: David has credentials. I've checked out his credentials.

MAX: Well, we never did decide how we measured his credentials.

WAYNE: The whole world can measure his credentials.

MAX: They can measure them any way and then the sooner we get a good look at them the sooner we can measure them, right? I think he needs to come on out and tell the world --

WAYNE: I don't --

MAX: -- everything that he's now told you inside there. Share it with all of us.

WAYNE: I think you need to leave him alone.

MAX: We can't go away and leave him alone.

WAYNE: Why?

MAX: You know why.

WAYNE: Why?

MAX: There's a, an affidavit been filed in the court, there's a warrant outstanding and it won't go away and it has to be satisfied. You're a lawyer, you know that.

WAYNE: I know that you're not bothering Caspar Weinberger. The government has left him alone.

MAX: Wayne, you are not being reasonable.

WAYNE: Look, the Secretary --

MAX: I hope you don't go into court and argue the way that you're arguing with me.

WAYNE: (Laughter)

MAX: I hope you use a few more factual references than I have heard.

WAYNE: Well --

MAX: I hope you don't have David as your expert witness.

WAYNE: In my last trial I went into court and I argued a discovery motion and I based it on, let's see, what was it, "My Cousin Vinnie," and I won the point.

MAX: (Laughter.)

WAYNE: I won the point.

MAX: All right. "Your Cousin Vinnie."

WAYNE: "My Cousin Vinnie."

MAX: The movie you mean?

WAYNE: "My Cousin Vinnie," yes.

MAX: The movie?

WAYNE: Yes.

MAX: Well, I haven't seen the movie so I thought you were talking about a relative.

WAYNE: Well, the judge had.

MAX: Okay. Well, the points can be made I suppose on anything, but --

WAYNE: Even the Bible.

MAX: -- most of all, most of all --

WAYNE: You can take the Bible to court too.

MAX: Most of all, it has to be based on fact though does it not, the courtroom experience I mean, and good, solid evidence, and reasonable belief in a majority opinion. And I think you're suffering a lack of those things where you are. The argument you're now putting forth is not held up by those things that, that traditionally is demanded for reasonable thought and adjudication. It's not there. It's out here but it's not in there.

WAYNE: Isaiah 59.

MAX: Uh-uh.

WAYNE: Isaiah 59.

MAX: Come on out. Get your head together and come out.

WAYNE: About the condition of the legal system in the last days. Isaiah Chapter 59.

MAX: People are concerned about you out here. We'd like to see a good, safe resolution. We'd like to be able to call these people back and say he cares, he's responsive to your concerns, he's coming out and he's taking care of his children and he's re-entering society, he's re-entering the world. Are we going to be able to tell them that?

WAYNE: Max, I'm concerned about you. It seems like you're going contrary to the truth. I'm not going to judge you, but you are in the judgment. The seven seals is a living judgment.

MAX: What do you want from me? What do you want from us --

WAYNE: Nothing, nothing.

MAX: -- to come out of there?

WAYNE: I want absolutely nothing, Max. I just want to wait for God's direction.

MAX: And how do you anticipate it coming?
